DR. HURTY'S LATEST.

Outlaws Whiskey, Coffee and Pickles.—The Reasons Given.

State Health Commissioner J. L. Hurty, has issued the following: "Whiskey contains alcohol, and pharmacology classes alcohol as a poison. Coffee contains caffeine, and pharmacology classes caffeine as a narcotic and heart and kidney stimulant (irritant) and a poison. Pickles are difficultly digestible fruits and vegetables soaked in acetic acid. When diluted, acetic acid is known as vinegar. Pharmacology classes acetic acid as a mild caustic, an irritant to the alimentary mucous membrane and a poison.

"Even the arch poisons—strychnine and arsenic—when taken in minute amounts do not cause death, but if taken for a long time cause troubles which are hard to down. Alcohol, caffeine and acetic acid may be taken diluted for a long time without causing death, but like arsenic and strychnine, when long taken they cause troubles which are hard to down. These are well-known physiological and pharmacological facts and are laid down in the books.

"We would not use diluted strychnine and arsenic as articles of diet, even if they were tasty, and even if they did whip up the nerves and create unnatural appetite. Why then do we use alcohol, caffeine and pickles as articles of diet? They are unquestionably slow poisons and they unquestionably do the human family infinite harm. Alcohol, long taken, brings ill health, disease, poverty, crime and insanity. Caffeine, in our coffee and tea, injuries heart, brain and kidneys, and so brings disease and its train of ills. Pickles with their acetic acid cause dyspepsia, induce overeating, irritate the mucous membrane of the stomach and intestines and so cause disease.

"If we would cut these three articles from our dietary, our natural efficiency would be greatly increased. Why not cut them out and enjoy the benefits? Will we do it? Not much. We will continue to poison ourselves slowly, then foolishly try to mend the matter with more drugs and we will, in our conceit, call the scientists cranks for pointing out how we would be happier, stronger and richer and live longer."

He fell off the handcar on which he and the other hands were returning from their work and sustained quite painful sprains and bruises.—Bedford Democrat.

TWO YOUNG MEN

While Intoxicated Invaded Home on Brown Street.

A short time before noon two young men, strangers, while intoxicated stopped at the home of Mrs. Elton on West Brown street. They persisted in entering the house, apparently not knowing what they were doing. Mrs. Elton, who is sick, did not know them. Others in the home finally induced the intruders to leave but later they returned and went into a front room and went to bed with most of their clothing on.

Word was sent to the police and Marshall Abell responded and arrested the men soon after dinner. They could give no explanation of their conduct and were locked up. They were thought to be from Brownstown.

HORSES SCARED

And Fred Hamen Was Thrown From Wagon.

Fred Hamen, a farmer from near Surprise, narrowly escaped being badly hurt about noon. His team was standing in front of the office at the Hodapp Mills and he was climbing into the wagon as a B. & O. train passed. The horses jumped and Mr. Hamen was thrown to the cement walk violently. He struck on his head and shoulders and was rendered unconscious for a few moments.

The injury was not serious and he was able in a short time to drive away and continue his business in town.

Like Letters From Old Friends.

Isaac White of Enfield, Ill., in renewing his subscription to the Republican speaks his appreciation of the paper in rather a novel way. In his letter he says: "Seymour Republican I have taken you so long it is like doing without tobacco to miss you. It is like getting a bundle of letters from old friends when you come. So come and see me until 1913."

Small Fire.

The fire department was called to the home of Mrs. Mary Casson on East Second street this morning at 7 o'clock. The paper around the flue caught fire and some clothing hanging on the clothes rack near the stove was burned. The blaze was extinguished with the chemical. Little damage was done.

Secretary Nagel of President Taft's cabinet is coming to Indiana soon to make speeches in support of the administration's record and the President's candidacy for renomination. Other leading Republicans are also expected to visit the state. The Roosevelt managers are also dating some prominent men. Ex-Senator Beveridge it is announced will probably make an address in Indianapolis soon in support of Col. Roosevelt. From now on there will be a spirited contest for delegates in the state. State Chairman Sims who is for Taft, is credited with saying that the organization, upon which the burden of the campaign after the convention will rest, will not take a hand in the selection of delegates and insisting that the district conventions be kept free of any evidence of unfairness or of presenting a free expression of the voters. Ed Lee who is in charge of the Roosevelt state organization expresses confidence in the result of the contest and says he asks only for a fair fight and afterward the Republicans should unite on the nominee of the Chicago convention.

FRUIT TREE SPRAYING

This Is The Time to Get Effective Results.

Mr. Everett Smith of the state entomologists's office has been here for two days, examining the spraying material which is on hand in our drug stores, hardware stores and ice plant. He said this morning that now is the time to spray all fruit trees in this vicinity to protect them from the parasite which destroys the fruit and finally kills the trees. The material for spraying can be obtained in town at a number of places and should be applied as soon as freezing weather has passed and before the foliage opens. Any day when the temperature is above freezing will be a good time to apply the spray. This is a matter which will be of benefit to every person who uses fruit. The drug stores, hardware stores and ice plant handle the spraying material and will give instructions as to its preparation and the method of applying.

The vicinity of Seymour is developing as a fruit growing community as people come to understand the value of spraying and thus protecting the trees. This information is being increased each year as the interest in fruit growing develops and as our farmers as well as city growers specialize more and more in the crops which they grow.

Florida Flower Seed

I will send half a dozen separate kinds of seeds to anyone who sends a stamp for postage—the Royal Poinciana, a gorgeous, showy plant of fiery red flowers; the Palmetto Palm seed, with its beautiful broad deep cut leaves, and seed of the real Camphor Tree, also of the novel plant called Job's Tears, and Sweet Mignonette and seed of the Southern Cotton; enough for you and your neighbor, so divide.

As the season advances, should any one not be sent, it will be because they are all gone; another sort equally as nice will be sent in its place, anyway, so you will get six varieties of seed.

ALICE WARNER,
Jacksonville, Florida.

Likes His New Location.

I. H. Young, who formerly lived in Seymour, later in Rocky Ford, Colo., has recently moved to Rogers, Ark. He likes his new location very much and in sending his renewal of subscription says: "I can't get along without the Republican. Send it to Rogers, Ark. This is a beautiful city and a nice country and a fine climate and the best of spring water and a great fruit state. Will you please give my best wishes to all my old friends through your paper."

Thus far nearly all of the Republican delegates to the national convention whose election will not be contested are for Taft. As votes are what count, the Taft managers are making the most of these early victories.

Ex-Senator Beveridge's name has by petition of Nebraska admirers, been placed on the primary ballot of the state as a candidate for vice-president. His Lincoln day address and his other recent speeches in the west have greatly increased his tremendous influence and popularity in that section.

Lieutenant Governor Frank Hall of Rushville according to reports is jubilant over the fact that his own township endorsed his candidacy for governor and he has prospects of getting the solid delegation from his county. The Taggart organization back of Ralston which forced Congressman Boehne out of the race doesn't seem to have noticed that Hall has ambitions. The organization having run the road roller over all the opposition considered serious is now too busy arranging a platform to consider small matters like Hall's candidacy. The platform is being canned ready for use when needed and the remainder of the ticket arranged for so the delegates from Jackson and other counties will not be burdened with any real work which will interfere with theater dates and other matters. The Taggart-Fairbanks managers it is reported have kindly kept the field clear for Judge Shea to get on the ticket as candidate for Appellate judge.

It has long been recognized that a man's friends sometimes do him more injury than his enemies. This is true in the present contest for the Republican presidential nomination. Roosevelt has some supporters, who themselves or the companies they are interested in are being prosecuted by the government and their activity is probably not helping the Colonel's cause. Then Taft has some of the same kind of burdens. The Indianapolis News is bitter in its assaults on Roosevelt. It is of course more interested in the latter's defeat in the convention than in Republican success in the fall. While it is denouncing Roosevelt boomers as men with sore toes, who have failed of political appointment under Taft or are being prosecuted by him, the force of this assault is counteracted by the remembrance that the News once was defendant in a slander suit instituted by Roosevelt. Then there are Keating and Watson. It seemed to have been considered wise to send the former out of Indiana and to the south to work for Taft but latest reports are that he is not welcomed there, the state executive committee in Texas having passed resolutions condemning the sending him there to tell the party what to do. Watson is reported by dispatches to be slated for one of the Taft delegates at large from the state. There are many Republicans who heartily favor Taft who resent such selection and it is further more recalled that before he suddenly joined the Taft boomers his remarks were too much in line with Ed Lee's.

DOUBLE TRAGEDY ON CLARK COUNTY FARM

Jacob Whalen Kills His Brother and Himself.

Jeffersonville, Ind., March 6.—Joseph Whalen, aged forty-six, was shot and killed by his brother, Jacob Whalen, fifty-six years old, who then committed suicide by cutting his throat, at Bennettsville. Jacob had been drinking, and the tragedy followed a quarrel.

The two brothers and a third brother, William, lived together on a good farm at Bennettsville, a village fifteen miles north of this city. Jacob and Joseph were in the barnyard together, while William was absent on another part of the farm. Mrs. Joseph Whalen was in the house. She heard a shot in the barnyard, and looking out, saw her husband fall. Jacob, with the smoking revolver in his hand, rushed toward the house bent, it is believed, on killing Mrs. Joseph Whalen. The latter escaped by running out of the house, but Jacob did not pursue her farther than the door.

Soon afterward, when the woman and William Whalen entered the house they found the body of Jacob, the mur-derer, lying on the floor. He had dropped the pistol and had taken a knife and cut his throat, dying almost instantly. Jacob Whalen had been drinking heavily for several weeks, and his brother Joseph had remonstrated with him. Mrs. Joseph Whalen also had tried to induce Jacob to quit drinking. When Joseph censured his brother Jacob a quarrel resulted and the shooting followed. The Whalens are well known farmers, who have been prominent in the affairs of the community.

Ancient Ideas of Africa.

In medieval times Africa was an unknown continent as well as Asia. Until a few years after the discovery of Columbus no one had sailed around it, and it was quite generally thought, as it had previously been thought in regard to Asia, that the African continent extended on and on indefinitely. It was supposed that far to the south was the zone of heat, in which no human being could live. This was by no means an unreasonable inference to the ancients. They knew that the farther they sailed to the north the colder it grew and that in the extreme north was a region of perpetual snow. They also knew that the farther they sailed to the south the warmer it grew, and what was more natural for them to suppose that if they went far enough in that direction they would come upon lands that were parched and baked and upon seas that boiled.

San Francisco Graft Cases Come to a Sudden Termination.

San Francisco, March 6.—Under instructions from Superior Judge W. E. Lawler, the jury in the trial of ex-Mayor Eugene F. Schmitz returned a verdict of not guilty.

Under supreme court instructions Judge Lawler must dismiss all of the indictments against all of the defendants in the so-called graft and other cases. This ends the graft cases.

Good-by, Jonesy.

Donald is five years old, and with his parents lives over the Jones family, who sleep very late in the morning. Donald's mother spends a great deal of her time urging him to be quiet mornings so as to permit the Joneses to sleep in peace. This has evidently made a very unfavorable impression on the infant mind of Donald. Recently he met Mrs. Jones in the hall and informed her that he had seen Santa Claus in one of the big department stores. "What is he going to give you for Christmas, Donald?" asked Mrs. Jones. "Three big guns!" replied Donald. "And what are you going to do with them?" asked the lady. "I'm going to shoot you and Mr. Jones, so I can play mornings!" replied the boy.

CURRENT WIT and HUMOR

A Natural Bent.

"Professor," said Miss Skylight, "I want you to suggest a course in life for me. I have thought of journalism."

"What are your own inclinations?"

"Oh, my soul yearns and throbs and pulsates with an ambition to give the world a life work that shall be marvellous in its scope and weirdly entrancing in the vastness of its structure!"

"Woman, you're born to be a milliner!"—T.H.H.

Easily Won.

"The truth is," said the young man, "I have been beaten about the bush as long as I dared to, 'I want to marry your daughter.'"

"I rather suspected it. You will pardon me if I ask you frankly what your prospects are."

"Well, I own a third interest in a cow that produces nearly two pounds of butter a day when she is at her best."

"God bless you, my children—I mean my son."

A Prize.

Little Wife—See what I have bought you for a birthday present—I got it at an auction—a genuine, antique, old fashioned bootjack, such as your colonial ancestors used.

Husband—I haven't worn boots for twenty years.

Little Wife—I know. Won't it look lovely when it's decorated and hung up?

DIDN'T UNDERSTAND.

Visitor (looking at painting)—Why, that's an old master you have there.

Mr. Parvenew—Yes, but the frame is new.

Truth.

Down at the bottom of the well
Lies truth—an adage old.
Yet truth, forsooth, is like a bell
That's very seldom tolled.

—Judge.

The Debutante.

"What could you do to support yourself if your father lost his fortune? You society butterflies know nothing about earning money."

"There's where you do us an injustice. Didn't I earn $30 selling Red Cross stamps Christmas week?"

Theatrical.

It's Leap Year.

"Gee, but it's tough to have to tell a bright, pretty, attractive fascinating girl, the fervor of whose proposal shows how undying her affection is, that you can only be a brother to her!"

Force of Habit.

"Your friend has such cultivated manners."

"Naturally. He manufactures 'lows.'"

At This Season.

"What is this price of peace they are so much about?"

"Just now it is a set of furs."

THE "FRUITS" OF AMBITION.

"If you are ambitious and want to get on in life, don't wait for your opportunity—make it."

So counseled Mr. Kalestick to young Kabbage, whom he had just appointed to the management of a greengrocery stall.

All that day the youth pondered the advice, and he still remembered it when his eye suddenly caught an item in the sporting columns of his favorite paper:

"Clodville Football club requires dates for December."

Two minutes later Kabbage was busy with pen, ink and paper, and in ten more minutes he was proudly commencing the following note to the Clodville secretary:

"Dear Sir: I beg to inform you that we have a choice lot of dates in stock. Inclose one as a sample, and will be pleased to supply any quantity at two-pence a pound or four pounds for sevenpence ha'penny!"—Ideas.

VERY POOR ACTORS.

Mrs. Kidder—The play is very realistic. The actors are actually shooting at each other.

Mr. Kidder—It isn't realistic enough.

Mrs. Kidder—How so?

Mr. Kidder—None of the actors are getting killed.

Sure.

Oh, why not still be happy.
Though much, in truth, is lost?
The quickest way of winning
Is not to count the cost.

Didn't Hurt Him.

Towne—My wife's doing her own cooking now.

Browne—Well, you don't seem to mind it.

Towne—No; I say she's doing her own cooking. I get mine done at a restaurant—Catholic Standard and Times.

What Love Can Do.

"And do you really love me, George?" she asked.

"Love you?" repeated "dear" George fervently. "Why, while I was bidding you good-by on the porch last night, my angel, the dog bit a large chunk out of my leg, and I never noticed it till I got home."

The Superlative Degree.

"Can you give me any idea of the mean temperature in this place?" asked the traveler who had just arrived at Devil's Lake, N. D.

"We ain't got any mean temperature here," replied the old settler. "It's all meaneest."

After Seeing the County Treasurer.

Man With the Bulging Brow (raising his voice)—I'm a good citizen, but—

Man With the Bulbous Nose—But, like all the good citizens I know, you do hate like thunder to pay your taxes!

TIME TO LIGHT OUT.

The Maiden—Be reasonable, papa. Tom is the light of my life.

Her Papa—That may be, but I object to having my house lit up by him after eleven o'clock.

The Climax.

The universe is pausing!
The earth shakes, in good sooth!
The solar system's gasping!
For Baby's cut a tooth!

The Wrong Pick.

"I've picked a girl for you, my dear fellow, to go through life with you, who is a live wire."

"Ah, but my journey through life is via wireless."

The Result.

"When your husband came home from our house, did he speak about the punch we gave him?"

"Well, he was just full of it."

FOR MILADY'S DRESSING TABLE

DOUBLE chins are said to disappear almost as if by magic when subjected to treatment with a set of little rollers, which are being used here for the first time. There is a tiny ivory and tortoise shell roller for rubbing away superfluous flesh under the chin and smoothing out the wrinkles which have a provoking way of making themselves visible in every young woman's face. This delicate toilet accessory must be manipulated with the utmost care. The set includes three rollers. Besides this one, which is the simplest of the three, there is a roller somewhat larger, supplied with a tortoise shell or amber handle and with four tiny ivory balls instead of the familiar cylinder. This quartette, working together, yet each having a rotary motion of its own, is supposed to change flesh into thin air or something equally invisible. The third in the set has two rollers, one being attached to each end of the tortoise shell handle. Each roller is designed to work on a special part of the face. A key to the working plan is enclosed in each box with the set, so that the amateur will have no difficulty whatever in managing the little cylinders and balls. And after she has learned the use of each she need not refer again to the chart.

There is a delightful new face cleanser which is less harmful to the finer skin than some of the soaps used by women and which, it is claimed, will accomplish the cleansing process quicker and more pleasantly than a water application. The cleansing liquid comes in two bottles, and they are to be mixed in the proportions of two of one to one of the other. The solution of which a smaller quantity is used is pinkish in color and has a clean, sweet odor. The other liquid looks like water. When the mixture has been made the face is cleansed with it by dipping a piece of absorbent cotton in the liquid and rubbing it gently all over the face. Cold cream applications are not so effective as the liquid cleanser.

A delicious cold cream intended for day use, one might say, to differentiate it from the cold creams put on at night to remove soil and wrinkles, comes in white jars and is a delicate pink in color. The cream is velvety smooth and has an exquisite odor. A little of it should be applied before the face powder is used. This keeps the skin smooth and protects it from the weather.

Instead of using face powder many women are now applying cold cream which has a becoming whitening effect and really is a substitute for the dry powder. The cream, it is claimed by the makers, has absolutely no grease in its composition. It has a flesh tint, and after it has been allowed to soak well into the pores of the skin the complexion looks pearly white and pink, yet does not have a powdered appearance. The cream comes in jars of different tints to match different complexions.

An eyebrow pencil is considered an important part of the modern toilet outfit. Imported pencils done up in long, thin silver or gilt tubes can be had in black or shades of brown, so that when deftly used the lines do not show conspicuously, while the eyebrow is effectively accentuated.

Triangular bottles of perfume are a novel importation from a French specialist in this line of toilet articles. The bottles are shaped differently for the different scents. There is a squat, wide bottle, tapering toward the top, which holds a deep amber liquid of rare fragrance and allurements. Another triangular bottle of blunter proportions contains a perfume of quite a different odor. These are sold in leather cases, satin lined, into which the bottles fit perfectly.

Without the aid of scissors or knife the cuticle around the finger nails can be kept smooth and well pushed back by using a device which has recently been placed on the market. The manicure outfit contains a pair of metal pincers about three inches long, which hold in their tip a tiny disk which looks like rubber. This is about the size of a small lozenge. Holding it firmly in the pincers the disk is first dipped into a box of salve which is a part of the nail improving paraphernalia, and afterward it is rubbed and rolled around the cuticle to polish off any ragged bits of skin and to keep the nail smooth and delicately shaped.

SIDE FRILL TO BE BANISHED

No Longer Occupies Privileged Position, and Its Successor is Being Talked Of.

It must go.

Smart women have decreed it.

The abuse of this pretty fashion is accountable for its downfall.

Some of the exaggerated examples of the side frills seen this winter have been laughable.

"Heart guards," one man humorously dubbed them.

When a frill that is ordinarily intended merely as a finish to the collar extends so far that it is necessary to pin it to the coat sleeve to keep it out of the way it is time to call a halt.

What will take the place of the discarded side frill?

Who knows? Those who invent fripperies may already have their heads together settling on something quite new in neck fixings.

Just at present the return of the straight lace trimmed jabot, that was in vogue for so many years, is predicted.

Plaited tulle jabots are also candidates, but they are not practical, although usually most becoming.

IN VOGUE

The skirts to the evening dresses are long, most of them have trains, and the trains are usually made in the long court length.

Many of the new street and auto coats have their collars and cuffs trimmed with velvet, corduroy, ratine, bengaline, braid or satin.

There seems to be no end to the designs in scarfs just now and the materials used also—satin, velvet and fur as well as lace and batiste.

The accordion plaited full, straight jabot is the very newest style of jabot and appears in black and white. Whether this will supersede the popular side ruffle remains to be seen.

Most fashionable materials are rich and heavy. Tailored costumes are made up of thick woolly goods and furs and dresses even plush is used, with heavy chenille fringe as trimming.

A double row of buttons of embroidered silk outlined with button loops of silk on embroidery trim many of the smartest models from the neck down to the bottom of the skirt, or from the waist line down.

FRANK J. GOULD RESENTS SLIGHT TO ACTRESS WIFE

Differences have arisen between the oldest and the youngest of the Gould brothers which threaten to disturb the family harmony that has so long prevailed in regard to the administration of the Gould railroad properties.

Frank J. Gould has assumed an attitude of open hostility toward George J. Gould, and now not only is engaged in an active campaign against him in the financial district, but is seeking to wrest from his brother the latter's supremacy in managing the family estate.

After having had himself made chairman of the International and Great Northern Railway and deposing his brother George as president, Frank J. Gould announces that it is no longer to be classed as a "Gould property," because it is now owned and controlled by himself and not by his brothers.

Frank J. Gould's latest move has been to open a publicity campaign in the Wall street district. Frank Gould is now opposing his brother George in the Wabash railroad and other corporations.

It is asserted that the attitude of the youngest of the Gould brothers is due to resentment caused by the attitude taken by the women members of the Gould family toward himself and his wife. Frank J. Gould married Miss Edith Kelly, an actress, in 1910, and soon his former wife remarried.

The two children by the first marriage, Helen and Dorothy, were then taken in charge by Miss Helen M. Gould, who is caring for them at her estate in Irvington. The women members of the family have made their displeasure felt in a social way, and this is said to have caused deep embitterment in the family circles.

With the old Gould instinct, Frank J. Gould has transferred the contest to the financial field, and in Wall street, the outcome of affairs is awaited with interest, as it is not known what course the next hostilities may take.

Friends of George J. Gould feel that the attitude of his brother is unfortunate, as the Wabash and two of its affiliated roads are in the hands of receivers and undergoing the throes of a reorganization. George J., Edwin, Howard and Helen Gould are the four executors of their father's estate, George, who inherited the lion's share of the property, having added powers as manager of the fortune.

PASTOR ONCE CHASED AT END OF SIX-SHOOTER

Rev. M. L. Butler, for four years pastor of a commodious, well-appointed church in Chickasha, is leaving the city to accept the pastorate of a congregation in Okmulgee.

This time his departure is with the good graces of a host of citizens, who wish him well. But he recalls a time when he left his flock with a six-shooter tickling his head a few inches above his store collar.

The latter departure was in 1884, and a bishop, a presiding elder and a few other influential church dignitaries took to their heels along with him. It was at a camp meeting in a brush tabernacle, and half a dozen resolute cow punchers, sworn foes of religion, supplied the incentive.

Rev. Mr. Butler was an enthusiastic missionary those days. In the summer of 1884 he participated in a camp meeting at White Bear, Okla. A district Indian mission conference was in session in an old-fashioned brush arbor.

On the confessional's bench one night was a young girl. She had barely seated herself when a cow puncher rushed down the aisle, gripped the girl by the hand and dragged her from the meeting. Outside a galaxy of his pals were in waiting. The girl was his sister and he was "dead set" she should be saved from the grasp of Christianity.

"Now, you fellows, git," was the harsh order of the range riders. Rev. Mr. Butler went to their camp the following day with the idea of tempering their animosity for parsons. The best he got was a revolver pressed too uncomfortably close to his head and a volley of shot in the air, as a "godspeed." The conference was abandoned.

Couldn't Have Her Daughter.

"No, I cannot consent to let you marry my daughter."

"Would you mind telling me why not? You must have some reason."

"I have a very good reason. You've been in jail."

"Well, what of it?"

"What of it? By heaven, I shouldn't think it would be necessary for you to ask me 'what of it.' Do you suppose I would deliberately let my daughter become the wife of a man who had been disgraced?"

"Oh, you are entirely mistaken about that. Having been in jail is no disgrace. All the best people are going this year."

In The Shoe Store

(Scene—A shoe store during a marked down sale. The customers are being marshaled in order by urbane managers. Wild eyed clerks are trying to wait on three times as many persons as they can really satisfy by their attentions.)

Young Girl (after gazing five minutes abstractedly at a bronze satin boot on her foot, during which time her clerk has told five women that he is busy)—"I don't know whether I want it or not. It'll go well with the green, but whether it'll look all right with my blue velvet I—"

Young Girl's Friend (Jumping to her feet as though shot)—"Where is it? Oh, I can't have lost it! It was right here—excuse me, madam, but will you get up?"

Woman Next Her (frostily)—"I don't know what you've lost, but I assure you that I haven't it! I've got plenty of my own."

Clerk—"What have you lost?"

Young Girl's Friend (pawing among the shoes on the floor)—"My card-case, Jessie, you saw me have it, didn't you? You know I had it at the other store and now it's gone!"

Clerk (soothingly)—"If your cards were in it possibly it will be returned to you."

Young Girl's Friend—"No, they'll keep it! It was a silver one! I must have lost it! I'm going back to the other store."

Young Girl—"I'd go with you, dear, but I've just got to decide on these bronze boots! Do you think they'd look well with the blue—"

Young Girl's Friend—"Uncle Jim gave it to me and I had it right on my arm in the other store. I'm going back there—"

Woman Next Her (sharply)—"Well, that's my muf! you're grabbing up. It's funny the sort of people they let come into this shop!"

New Customer (to clerk)—"Can't you wait on me next? I've been standing here a half hour if I've been a minute! I just want to leave an order—"

Manager (soothingly)—"Seat right over there, madam, please!"

Woman Grenadier—"I shall stand right here till this young man has finished! I cannot waste all afternoon in one place. I wish to be waited on immediately!"

Manager (in sirupy tones)—"At once, madam! Just be seated!"

Young Girl (still dreamily)—"Perhaps if you'd try on one a little narrower I'd like the bronze after all."

Young Girl's Friend (gasping from the labor of elbowing through the crush)—"What do you think—just as I got to the corner I saw a woman with a silver card case hanging on her wrist exactly like mine and naturally I grabbed her and said it was mine and she was perfectly frightful! She said she would call a policeman! I'm all in a tremble! I came back to rest a minute!"

Young Girl—"Why, that's a shame, Mary. If I'd only brought along a sample of my blue dress—"

Young Girl's Friend—"Now I must go and find my silver card case. If Uncle Jim—"

Woman Next Her (grabbing at the friend as she starts out again)—"I'll call the manager! That's the second time you've picked up my muf! You've had your eye on it all the time! I—"

Young Girl's Friend (distractedly)—"Oh, I hate your old muf! I thought I laid mine there! If Uncle Jim finds that I've lost that card case I'll die!"

Newly Arrived Customers (all clamoring)—"Isn't there a soul in this place to wait on anybody? I've stood here an hour! I just want to see that pump in the window!"

Manager (swooping down as the clerks begin to paw the air)—"Just be seated, ladies, and I'll have some one here at once! Be seated—"

Woman Grenadier—"That's what you said thirty-five minutes ago. I'll not sit down! I shall stand right here till this young woman makes up her mind about that bronze boot!"

Young Girl (quite unhearing)—"Maybe I'd better get a black satin. You can wear black satin with everything. Only they wear out so soon. Haven't you any that don't wear out?"

Woman Grenadier (to nobody in particular)—"I shall stand right here!"

Clerk (to woman who has tried to abduct him by main force)—"No, madam; can't you see I'm busy?"

Would Be Abductor—"I shall report you to the manager! Of all the impudence—when I've waited hours!"

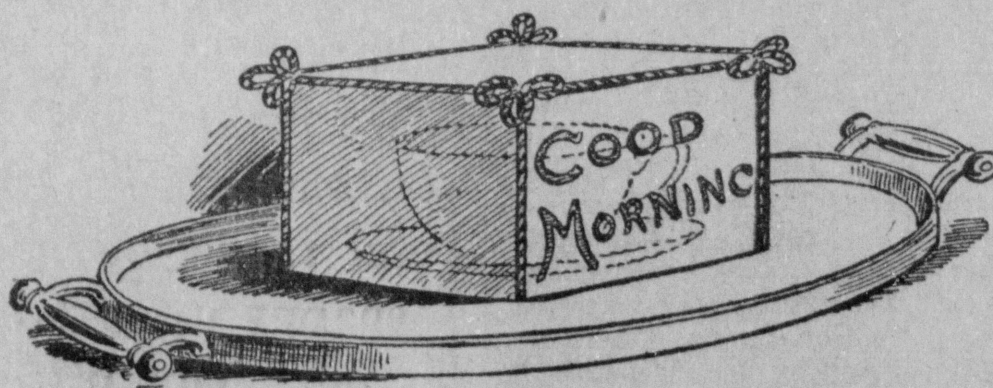

Young Girl's Friend (gasping for breath and waving the card case)—"I found it! I found it! I'd put it in my coat pocket!"

Young Girl—"How nice, Mary! (To clerk) What did you say is the price of these bronze boots? Seven and a half, marked down from ten! My goodness! Why didn't you tell me that before? At a marked down sale I shouldn't dream of paying over $5 for anything! Here I've wasted all this time! It's most annoying!"

Clerk (greeting his teeth as he faces the woman grenadier)—"Now, madam, I can attend to you!"

Woman Grenadier—"Well, it's about time! I've shopped all my life and I never had to wait like this! I want two pairs of 10 cent shoe laces."

Novel Teacup Cosy

OUR sketch illustrates a little home-made contrivance that will be much appreciated by many people as it is of service for keeping warm the early morning bedroom cup of tea that always suffers so unless the recipient happens to be quite ready for it.

It was made with the aid of a square tin biscuit box, and as biscuit boxes are constructed in almost every conceivable size and shape it is not difficult to obtain one that will fit comfortably over a cup and saucer. For this tin, and fitting exactly, a cover was made in flannel and edged with a colored cord carried into three little loops at each corner. The words "Good Morning" were worked upon one side, and the cover was fastened to the tin by stitches run through the material and a number of tiny holes pierced in the sides of the tin near the corners. The dotted line in the sketch indicates the cup of tea underneath the "cosy." This little contrivance will keep a cup of tea warm for some time, and it is by no means unsightly, and is easily removed from the teapot when the ten is required.

A WARNING TO MANY.

Some Interesting Facts Regarding Health Statistics.

Few people realize to what extent their health depends upon the condition of the kidneys.

The physician in nearly all cases of serious illness, makes a chemical analysis of the patient's urine. He knows that unless the kidneys are doing their work properly, the other organs cannot be brought back to health and strength.

When the kidneys are neglected or abused in any way, serious results are sure to follow. According to health statistics, Bright's disease which is really an advanced form of kidney trouble, caused nearly ten thousand deaths in 1910, in the state of New York alone. Therefore it behooves us to pay more attention to the health of these most important organs.

An ideal herbal compound that has had remarkable success as a kidney remedy is Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, the great Kidney, Liver and Bladder Remedy.

The mild and healing influence of this preparation is soon remarkable. It stands the highest for its remarkable record of cures.

If you feel that your kidneys require attention, and wish a sample bottle, write to Dr. Kilmer & Co., Binghamton, N. Y. Mention this paper and they will gladly forward it to you absolutely free, by mail.

Swamp-Root is sold by every druggist in bottles of two sizes—50c. and $1.00.

Every year, in many parts of the country, thousands are driven from their homes by coughs and lung diseases. Friends and business are left behind for other climates, but this is costly and not always sure. A better way—the way of multitudes—is to use Dr. King's New Discovery and cure yourself at home. Stay right there, with your friends, and take this safe medicine. Throat and lung troubles find quick relief and health returns. Its help in coughs, colds, grip, croup, whooping-cough and sore lungs make it a positive blessing. 50c and $1.00. Trial bottle free. Guaranteed by The Andrews Drug Co.

A New Back for an Old One—How It Is Done In Seymour.

The back aches at times with a dull, indescribable feeling, making you weary and restless; piercing pains shoot across the region of the kidneys, and again the loins are so lame that to stoop is agony. No use to rub or apply a plaster to the back in this condition. You cannot reach the cause. Exchange the bad back for a new and stronger one Seymour citizen.

Charles Heitman, 21 W. Brown St., Seymour, Ind., says: "For many years I was afflicted with kidney complaint and could get no relief from doctor's prescriptions or other medicines. My back was so painful that I could not stoop or get up after sitting without the greatest difficulty. I did not know what to do until a friend urged me to try Doan's Kidney Pills. This remedy brought me prompt relief and since then I have had no cause for complaint. I consider it no more than my duty to recommend Doan's Kidney Pills to other kidney sufferers."

There is more catarrh in this section of the country than all other diseases put together, and until the last few years was supposed to be incurable. For a great many years doctors pronounced it a local disease and prescribed local remedies, and by constantly failing to cure with local treatment, pronounced it incurable. Science has proven catarrh to be a constitutional disease and therefore requires constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure, manufactured by F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, Ohio, is the only constitutional cure on the market. It is taken internally in doses from 10 drops to a teaspoonful. It acts directly on the blood and mucous surfaces of the system. They offer one hundred dollars for any case it fails to cure. Send for circulars and testimonials.

TEMPTATION TOO STRONG FOR HIM

Fred Hix, Gentleman Burglar,
Just Couldn't Resist.

HIS FIANCE IS PROSTRATED

One of the Developments of Paroled Convict's Life of Cultured Ease at Lafayette Was His Engagement to Marry a Young Woman of High Social Rank, Who Fainted When Exposed of Her Lover's Dual Life Came.

Lafayette, Ind., March 6.—One of the shrewdest criminals ever dealt with by local police is Frederick Hix, gentleman burglar, arrested here accused of a score of robberies. So cleverly has Hix concealed his identity and his work that not a person in Lafayette, save the one man to whom he was reporting monthly, knew that he was a paroled convict, and none of his numerous acquaintances, many of them members of prominent Lafayette families, ever dreamed that he was anything but a cultured and refined young man worthy of being entertained in the best of homes. At the Y. M. C. A., where he had a room, he was highly respected and everywhere he was introduced here he made a most favorable impression.

Hix and a young woman of social rank were engaged. When she learned that he had been arrested and was an ex-convict, she fainted and for a time was prostrated. Her father interviewed Hix, and for the first time since his arrest he broke down and cried as he tried to explain to the girl's father why he had refrained from revealing to her his past life.

Hix says when he came here he determined to lead a proper life, but was unable to refrain from the temptations that beset him. While he does not admit any specific burglary, he admits that he has been leading a double life, and that he will go back to Jeffersonville reformatory from whence he was paroled, and will serve out the eleven years remaining in his term of two to fourteen years for grand larceny.

PEACE MOVEMENT

Indiana Schools Will Give a Day to Its Consideration.

Indianapolis, March 6.—Charles A.
Greathouse, state superintendent of public instruction, has sent to the state printer a program to be distributed among the schools of the state for observance of "Peace day." The date selected for the observance is May 18. Many of the schools of the state will be dismissed before that time, but the state superintendent proposes that where such is the case, the teachers shall carry out the program on the last day of school, or on some preceding day.

The purpose of the program is to emphasize the world peace movement, and to give the pupils a better understanding of what the movement proposes to accomplish.

CHAMPION LITIGANT

Dearborn County Man Had Instituted
Seven Hundred Lawsuits.

Lawrenceburg, Ind., March 6.—Job C. Miller, aged eighty-one, is dead of double pneumonia and heart disease.
Mr. Miller was the largest land owner in southeastern Indiana. He was more in litigation than any other person in this part of the state, having been engaged in more than 700 lawsuits during the last sixty years. The majority of these cases were damage suits against railroad companies. Mr. Miller dismissed the last two suits he had in the Dearborn circuit court during the January term, and said it was the first time for over a half century that he did not have a suit filed or pending in the court.

Shelter House Well Patronized.

Muncie, Ind., March 6.—During the months of November, December, January and February more than 1,000 unfortunate men were given free shelter in Muncie's municipal lodging house. It was the greatest number of wanderers ever accommodated in the same period of time, and all were strangers to the city. Most of them were mechanics or laborers out of work and in need of a night's rest.

Wrong on the "Short" Side.

Richmond, Ind., March 6.—Richmond's public improvement fund, money paid into the treasury on waivers filed by property owners assessed for public work of any sort, is approximately $15,000 out of balance and on the "short" side of the ledger. This discrepancy is due to a lax system of accounts.

Senator Kern to Preside.

Indianapolis, March 6.—At the meeting of the Democratic state committee yesterday afternoon it was decided to invite Senator Kern to accept the position of permanent chairman of the coming state convention and Governor Marshall to be temporary chairman and to deliver the "keynote" speech.

Valuable Dogs Poisoned.

Winchester, Ind., March 6.—A dog poisoner is at work in this city. Many ing poisoned meat.

Atlanta, Ga., March 6.—"My wife shot me and then locked me in here to die," was the statement made by E. H. Grace, a prominent Atlantan, according to Officer Dorsett, when the police broke into his handsome home and found him suffering from what may prove to be a fatal bullet wound in the side. The police arrested Mrs.

PICKPOCKETS UP TO DATE

They Invent New Dodges as Old Tricks Grow Well Known—Street Cars Are Worked Mostly.

Cincinnati, O.—Even the pickpockets are keeping up with the quick-step progress. A few years ago a good "dip" only thought it necessary to have a "stall" and a "tool" and to work the crowds in the good, old fashioned conservative way. Nowadays they stage their performances as carefully as the film actors do. The rat faced rascal who nips leathers is finding the competition of the new pickpocket most distressing.

"Oh," a quietly dressed, pleasantly plump, motherly looking woman will cry out, "I've been robbed. Some one opened my bag and took my purse out of it."

It always happens on a street car.
The substantial looking business man by her side will calm her.

"Don't worry, mother," he will beg, in a voice just audible to those nearest. "You didn't have much money in it, anyhow. I'll give you some just as soon as we get to the store."

The little colloquy has arrested the attention of the prospective victim. To him the man of the team will turn, with an air of good fellowship. A moment's conversation on the perils of the rail is sure to follow, and then the male pickpocket will illustrate.

"I was robbed a few weeks ago," he will say. "Fortunately, I had very little money with me. But the operation was so neatly performed that I have been rather proud, even of the passive part that I played in it. A stranger got into conversation with me, lurched against me—like this—and when I felt for my pocket my money was gone."

As he touches the victim lightly he "nips the leather" and a moment later "makes his getaway." The actual theft does not differ in method from that used by the commonest thief, but the manner in which the little act is staged and costumed shows something approaching genius.

Fame Dickens Gave Bath.

Bath is a city for which the Dickens lover ought to have a peculiar affection. Dickens stayed frequently in Bath in his early days, when engaged on reporting work, and his tobacco jar and beer mug are still piously preserved at the Saracen's Head. About six miles from Bath is the tiny village of Pickwick, through which Dickens often passed, and he bestowed the name upon his most famous creation.
Many of the scenes in "Pickwick" are,
it will be remembered, laid in Bath.
There is at the present moment—or was until quite recently—a tradesman in Bath of the name of Snodgrass.
But can you find a Tupman in the world to bring an action against a novelist?—London Chronicle.

S.S.S. PURELY VEGETABLE

It is a generally recognized truth that medicines made from vegetable ingredients are a great deal better adapted to the delicate human system, and safer in every way, than those composed of strong mineral mixtures and compounds. Mercury, potash, arsenic, etc., which are used in the manufacture of most blood medicines, are too violent in their action, and frequently derange the system by disturbing the stomach and digestion, affecting the bowels, and when used for a prolonged period often cause Rheumatism.
S. S. S. is the only blood medicine guaranteed absolutely and purely vegetable. It is made entirely of roots, herbs and barks, selected for their purifying and healing qualities. S. S. S. cures Rheumatism, Catarrh, Sores and Ulcers, Scrofula, Contagious Blood Poison, and all other blood diseases, because it cleanses and purifies the blood, and at the same time builds up the entire system by its fine vegetable tonic effects. S. S. S. may be taken by young and old with absolute safety, and with the assurance that it will cure the diseases and disorders due to an impure and poisoned blood supply, even reaching down and removing hereditary taints. Book on the blood and any medical advice free to all who write
